ITEM 8.01 OTHER EVENTS

As previously disclosed in Sinalloy Corporation's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, in January 2014, a customer (the "Plaintiff") filed a lawsuit against Sinalloy Corporation, a Delaware corporation ("Sinalloy"), Sinalloy's wholly-owned subsidiary, Palmer of Texas Tanks, Inc., a Texas corporation ("Palmer"), and an unrelated defendant in Texas state court alleging breach of warranty, among other claims. This matter arose out of products manufactured and sold by Palmer to the Plaintiff prior to Sinalloy's acquisition of all of Palmer's outstanding stock in August 2012.

In August and September 2016, the parties to the lawsuit tried the matter in a bench trial in the District Court of Harris County, Texas, 333rd Judicial District (the "Court"). On December 31, 2016 (but made available to the parties to the lawsuit on January 3, 2017), the Court entered final judgment in favor of the Plaintiff and Sinalloy and against Palmer. The Court ordered Palmer to pay the Plaintiff approximately $8.60 million in damages, plus pre- and post-judgment interest, and approximately $1.04 million in attorneys' fees. The Court ruled Sinalloy has no liability to the Plaintiff.

Palmer is currently analyzing its post-judgment options, including, but not limited to, a motion for the Court to reconsider the judgment and other appeal rights.

The former shareholders of Palmer are contractually bound, pursuant to the Stock Purchase Agreement by and among Sinalloy and the former shareholders dated August 10, 2012, to hold harmless and indemnify Sinalloy and Palmer from any and all costs and damages, including the judgment described above and all associated attorneys' fees, arising out of this matter. To date, the former shareholders of Palmer have paid all costs incurred by Palmer and Sinalloy related to this lawsuit and claimed for reimbursement.
